In pairs or groups of three, choose one word or phrase that is rooted in a community you participate in, it can be regional, cultural, and/or generational, but it must be effective. Write a 2-3 paragraph analysis of this word or phrase. You may consider the first four questions below. However, you must address the fifth prompt.

1. What is the origin story of your word or phrase? (i.e. Boujee and/or Bougie-an abbreviation of “bourgeois”-also hip-hop slang for expensive lifestyle)
2. Is your word or phrase cultural, regional, and/or generational?
3. Why is your word or phrase persuasive or powerful?
   a. Does it have more than one meaning?
   b. What does it evoke tonally? For example, is it sad, sarcastic, or funny?
   c. Why is it representative of your culture, region, and/or generation?
4. Can most people relate to or at least understand this word or phrase?
5. Persuade a scholarly audience to use this word or phrase in academic writing. Consider when and where you could use your word or phrase in academia. For example, would it make a good greeting for an email? In the right context, could your word or phrase be used in a research paper, literacy narrative, or persuasive essay? How should your word or phrase be incorporated into one or more of these academic situations?
